Kyle's Korner

Moving can be a difficult task. No one really wants to move, mostly because of all the work that is involved in doing so: packing, relocating, unpacking, etc.

Last week, we moved to be closer to Murfreesboro. So much of our time is spent in Murfreesboro... (Kudos to Marissa, who has allowed me some extra office time during the process.) It has not been the most enjoyable experience, but we are glad to be moved.

For those who may be wondering how this relates to Christianity, we are all in the process of moving, wouldn't you say? Our goal is to make Heaven our home. We often sing, "This world is not my home, I'm just a-passing through..." No matter what may happen or what we might do, not one of us will be on Earth forever. Regardless of whether or not your mortgage is paid off, you cannot stay here.

The big question is: "Where are you moving to?" In moving, we try to make sure that we pick just the right place in order to ensure our happiness while living there. Do you know you will be happy in this move? Are you for certain that your eternity is in Heaven?

Moving takes a great deal of preparation - in some cases, months, or even years, of planning. What are you doing to prepare for this move? Moving to Heaven is not easy, and God never promised that it would be. We must prepare our souls for holiness in order to live with God through eternity.

You are moving! This move will be permanent, so make sure you are happy with this change.
