PREPARING FOR THE WORST... EXPECTING THE BEST

I remember hearing many times over the saying, "Prepare for the worst, but expect the best." There are multiple variations of the thought, attributed to those such as Muhammad Ali Jinnah and Zig Zigler. The idea, as far as I can tell, is that if we prepare for the worst, we won't be disappointed. In hoping for the best, we may be pleasantly surprised with even more than we initially hoped for. This can be applied in various ways to life: school, job, any endeavor... And it may also be applied in matters of religion - Christianity.

It sure seems that here on Earth we may very well be facing the very worst. While I can find hope in every situation, mostly because of my faith, it seems there is much to fear: the virus, political disputes and threats from all sides. From a personal standpoint, even, many of us fear the unknowns and how these things will affect our lives. Our world has quite literally been turned upside down!

However, when we view these current events through the lens of Christianity, our troubles can be much smaller than they appear to be without Christ. You see, with Christ there is always hope. Hope in salvation. Hope for a brighter tomorrow and a much better dwelling place than anything we've ever experienced on Earth.

I'm afraid that many of us, even Christians, have treasured our world and the things it has to offer a bit too much. We've expected the best from the worst, and now we are seeing the result. Jesus warns us not to treasure the Earth, but the inheritance laid up for us in Heavenly regions (Matthew 6:19-21). Looking to Heaven, I hope we can see that the best is truly yet to be.
